WELLBORN NOMINATED ON THE FIRST BALLOT

Revolt of the Crawford Men—
A Good Nucleus for an Independent Party.

PROSPECT OF A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

CLARKSBURG, August 2.—The outlook is ominous for Wellborn. The committee on nomination, which had been in session, have referred the Wellborn-Crawford question to the convention. The friends of both are making a fight, which promises to look like the convention. They are running to use a sporting phrase, neck and neck, with the delegates, who are split and apart. The committee on credentials, or several adjournments of the convention to hear from them, made a majority and a minority report. The majority favored division of the delegation and the minority report favored seating the Crawford delegation as it stood. After lengthy debate, the vote was taken on the majority report, and Mr. Hall withdrew the name of Col. Crawford and stated to the convention that the delegation of which he formed part withdrew from the convention. The Tarrant county delegation at recess abandoned all hope of nominating him, and, in due course, said that the election of Wellborn depended on turning out the Crawford delegates. The Wellborn delegation hired a room and a dinner and furnished free liquor to their followers. After this action, Jarvis withdrew and Wellborn was nominated by the first ballot against the protest of Crawford's friends, who will not support Wellborn.

The state medical examiner submitted his annual report and it was referred.

The report of the committee on printing and supplies, finance committee and committee on laws and supervision, was read.
